Stumped About Solar Energy? Southern California Edison Offers Free Information Sessions

ROSEMead, Calif., Oct. 27, 2009 – Southern California Edison (SCE) will help its residential customers “follow the sun” with free sessions on the California Solar Initiative (CSI) program and the incentives it offers to homeowners who decide to “go solar.” These will be the last sessions of 2009.

Customers will learn about:

- Solar energy basics
- Benefits of installing a solar energy system
- Tax credits and other financial models that can help reduce upfront costs
- Financial incentives through the CSI program

These 90-minute, nontechnical, easy-to-understand information sessions are held at SCE Service Centers and other convenient locations throughout the utility’s service territory. They are free but require registration because space is limited. To register, visit www.sce.com/csi or call (866) 970-9221.

Nov. 12 – Westlake Village

6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Hyatt Westlake Plaza

Plaza Nueva Meeting Room

880 S. Westlake Blvd.
